

Transform's website is currently comparing the costs and benefits of current drug prohibitionist policy and drug control compared to legal regulation. They are likely to pick up areas of the report which highlight the difficulty in assessing VfM and that report until the publication of the more detailed and current NAO study will help to avoid a focus on the gaps in the evidence base and evaluation of VfM identified by the earlier analysis.

Press Office have approved the response. "There was an administrative error in the processing of this FOI and letter was sent out prematurely. Renewed ministerial authorisation is being sought."